GOOD TOMATO CROP EXPECTED IN THIS AREA

The tomato crop in Adams county is off to a good start this year, in contrast to last, according to the C. H. Musselman company which makes several millions of quality plants available to their growers. Last year wet weather at planting time delayed planting while plants grew tall in the green houses and cold frames.

Warm and dry weather facilitated planting but the dry spell persisted a little too long thereafter. However, Don Horst, crop supervisor for the company, pointed out that "this may give the plants an excellent root structure as the roots go down in search of moisture."

The warm, dry weather shortly after planting was conducive to insect growth and quite a few "spittle bugs" were seen, especially in clover, but some on the tomato plants. These small insects, with two black spots, bore into the stems to lay their eggs and cover the spot with a white, foamy substance, hence the name. Proper spraying controls this pest as a rule without too serious damage, unless neglected.

Reports on total acreage not only in this area but to the south indicate very substantial plantings. A good crop is contrast to last years difficult and unsatisfactory yield will add many hundreds of thousands of dollars to farmers and growers' cash resources.

Here And There

News Collected At Random

You can well afford to pass the plums, orchids, roses and plaudits to the six justices of the United States Supreme court who on Monday slammed the escape door on the 11 so-called Americans who recently were convicted of being Communist plotters to overthrow this government. These six men courageously upheld the patient Judge Medina's federal jurors' decision and his pronouncement of prison sentences and fines.

This country needs stout-hearted men of sound American faith and courage. Take your hats off to Chief Justice Vinson and Associate Justices Reed, Minton and Burton who joined him and Justices Frankfurter and Jackson who rendered individual concurring opinions.

Associate Justices Hugo Black (one-time Klansman) and William Douglas dissented. Justice Clark disqualified himself because he was attorney general.

Rea and Derick's Gettysburg store is modern, insofar as it has adopted several new trends in merchandising which offer better facilities to its customers, but the modern trend is not over-emphasized.

"We hope that the campaign begun seven years ago taught all aggressors one thing — that the soil of France is sacred to all the freedom-loving world."

Allied Tank Patrols Pound Chorwon-Kumhwa Stronghold In Korea; Tight Censorship

Tokyo, June 6 (P)—Allied tank patrols today hammered at the gates of Chorwon and Kumhwa, southern anchors of the Communist central Korean stronghold.

A tough and confident United Nations army "is standing at the front door now, hammering at the lock," AP Tokyo Bureau Chief Robert E. Emswiler reported from Eighth Army headquarters in Korea.

Tight censorship blacked out the exact distance Allied troops were from the Reds' strategic Chorwon-Kumhwa-Pyongyang bastion. The Eighth Army reported gains of up to two miles, except on the bitterly-defended eastern front.

In the west, Emswiler reported Allies had "battled all the way back to the gates of Chorwon . . . exactly where they were six weeks ago when the Communists' first spring offensive was touched off."

Two Miles Closer

Then, the main line was four miles from Chorwon. Armored patrols stabbed two miles closer.

Wednesday night the Eighth Army caudoned U.N. forces rolled one to two miles nearer Chorwon from positions north of Yonchon. And a tank patrol rumbled 2½ miles ahead of the line, running a gauntlet of Red fire.

Dispatches from the central front reported U.N. troops drove nearly a mile closer to Kumhwa eastern gateway to the Communist supply and build-up zone. Allied infantrymen slogged through sporadic artillery and mortar fire, routing out Chinese from log-topped foxholes.

Smaller, more careful advances were made to the east on the Hwachon-Kumhwa road, although Chinese there had pulled back three miles to stouter defenses.

Bitterest fighting was farther east, North Koreans fought a fierce delaying action against U.N. forces pushing out from Yangju and Inje while Communist trucks carted off the remains of a sizeable ammunition dump.

Emswiler reported official estimates place 300,000 Reds on the battlefield. He said 120,000 North Koreans hold the eastern and western flanks, with 150,000 Chinese in the center defending their vital triangle.

Hints of a possible new type of warfare in Korea came in an unconfirmed report from Taipei. The China Union Press said 30,000 Soviet satellite troops have arrived in Red Korea.

The Chinese Nationalist agency said 1,000,000 conscripts are digging deep tunnels, immune to air and artillery attack, linking strong points from which this new force will fight.

Thirty thousand Red guerrillas still are operating in South Korea, a Korea Republic spokesman said. He reported 110,000 have been killed or captured since October.

OPEN DRIVE TO DESTROY POISON WEED IN COUNTY

Members of the veterans agriculture class taught by Lorin Weigard, Biglerville, today were continuing an effort to eradicate as much water hemlock as they can find.

Death of two steers and a heifer owned by one of the former students of the class, who also has five cows in critical condition as a result of eating the weed, or drinking water into which it was crushed, has brought about the intensive campaign being carried out by the group.

Destroying All Weeds

Two steers owned by Mico Klinger, Two Taverns, a former member of the class, died earlier this month, a heifer died Tuesday and there is a possibility that some of the five cows whose illness was caused by the poisonous plant may die, Weigard said today.

Three members of the class Tuesday.

FLOHR'S CHURCH INHERITS $500

A $500 bequest to Flohr's Lutheran church is contained in the will of Harry W. Deardorff, late of Cash-town, which was entered Tuesday for probate with the county register and recorder.

The will also provides a sum of $500 to be set up as an endowment for the upkeep of Flohr's cemetery. Kermit H. Deardorff and Mildred D. Sessemann, Cashtown, son and daughter of the deceased, and the Gettysburg National bank are named as executors of the more than $20,000 estate.

The will provides for the sale of Mr. Deardorff's one-half interest in the Deardorff farms to his brother, Allen Deardorff, for $10,000 "unless he sees fit to take my son, Kermit, in partners with him."

Contained in the will also is a bequest of $13,000 to "my friend Eliza P. Bell unless in case she marry that $10,000 be given back to my legal heirs." The bequest was originally $15,000 but a notation in the will states that $2,000 for a new car was deducted in November, 1950.

The remainder of the estate is to be divided between the two children, Mrs. Sessemann and Kermit Deardorff.

8th Army Veterans Get Needed Rest

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, June 6 (AP)—The Eighth Army is tougher and cockier than at any time since the Korean war began 11 months and 12 days ago.

In fact, Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet's 14-million army is so powerful today that a sizable force of battle-scarred veterans has been pulled out of the frontlines and placed in reserve.

This is the first time the army has been wealthy enough in manpower to rest such a large force.

And they are getting pretty cocky up there along the front because after turning back two Chinese and North Korean Communist offensives since April 22, the Eighth Army has battled all the way back to the gates of Chonwon.

That's exactly where they were six weeks ago when the Communists' first spring offensive was touched off.

JIM KONSTANTY POSES PROBLEM FOR PHILLIES

Philadelphia, June 6 (AP)—Has Jim Konstanty lost the magic and mystery of his spectacular 1950 pitching?

No more acute question agitates the Philadelphia Phillies fans, who are going through an agony of disenchantment these days over the slipping fortunes of last year's National league champions.

The miseries were heightened last night when the great relief specialist, 1950's most valuable National leaguer, was sent as a starter against the Chicago Cubs — and failed.

It was big, bespectacled Jim's first starting role since he lost last year's World Series opener, 1 to 0, to the New York Yankees. Manager Eddie Sawyer gave him the assignment because he wanted to grant his regular starters a bit of extra, badly needed rest.

Konstanty retired for a pinch-hitter in the fifth inning, having given up nine hits and all the runs necessary to assure the Cubs a 3 to 2 victory.

At the moment Jim nods wry agreement to the old saying that when you're on a pedestal here's no place to step except off.

Naturally he's troubled about his inability so far to hit his stride of 1950, but remarks, "I don't feel things look too black."

Even before last night's game, he was deep in an analysis of why he's been off his old top form and concluded he has been six inches away from pitching the kind of ball he likes to deliver.

He means that he has been taking his stance on the mound with his left foot six inches farther back than it should be for best results.

Seeks Old Advisor

So Jim made up his mind to send for the undertaker again.

That would be, of course, Andy Skinner of Worcester, N. Y., Konstanty's alter ego, the long time pal of whom Konstanty said after the brilliant record of 1950: "He can do more with me than I can do with myself."

It is the third time this season that Skinner's help has been sought, and for hours on end of late pupil and master have toiled under the big shade trees near Jim's summer home here.

"Andy told me I seemed to be hurrying my pitch," Konstanty said. "From the right position it is easy to bring around my left leg and let the ball go. But with my left leg back six inches it's awkward to bring around, and the tendency is to let the ball go too high."

Konstanty said Skinner's suggestions, of little avail last night, had improved his performance in the three previous relief chores.

At this late last year Konstanty made 18 appearances, pitched 34½ innings, allowed 25 hits, struck out 16, won three games and lost one. For the full season he won 16 and lost seven.

1951 Record Fair

As of today, his 1951 record stands: Appeared in 21 games, pitched 36½ innings, allowed 41 hits, struck out 17, won two and lost five. Not too bad at that, says some of the experts, considering the Phils' frequent lapses into futility at the plate.

"Everyone knows the Phils could do with more effective pitching," one of them remarked, "but let's not blame the slump entirely on shaky mound work. Consider that finale last night—nobody out, Willie Jones triples and his pinch-runner Eddie Pelligrini dies on third because the next three batters can't do a thing."

"Wonder if some of the other boys know any undertakers?"

Sports Roundup

(By The Associated Press)

New York, May 6 (AP)—Think you know golf? Quick, identify these names: Jack Harden, Wally Ulrich, Lee Mackey, Jr., Fred Wampler, A. Brosch, Don Bisplinghoff.

They're all guys who qualified Monday for the U. S. Open.

Harden led the sectional qualifiers with a 134 total for 36 holes. Ulrich is the youngest who won a special "sportsmanship" prize at the 1950 Open when he disqualified himself for reporting an incorrect score. He got the dough but lost out as an automatic qualifier this year.

And Mackey is the lad who shot that sensational 64 at Merion last June.

Wampler? Former intercollegiate champion from Purdue having his first shot at the big title.

Brosch? You must have heard of him. He's been in the prize money a lot this year and shot a record 60 in competition.

Bisplinghoff is the 17-year-old former junior champion who is proving he can play with the men.

When you find all these guys, and scores of others shooting such good golf, the surprising thing isn't that a few top-rank pros failed to qualify but that so many of the old familiar names still appear on the list.

AGE BEFORE BEAUTY

When Bernie Spivak, Michigan State physical education prof, rigged up a machine to test reaction times of people, the natural assumption was that the younger guys would

Three New Records In Invitation Meet

Philadelphia, June 6 (AP)—The field events performers stole the show at the 15th annual University of Pennsylvania Interscholastic Invitation track meet on Franklin field yesterday.

Three new records were written into the books—all in field events.

Charles Blockson, Norristown, the only successful defending champion, hurled the shot-put 56 feet 9½ inches to erase the old mark of 56 feet 6½ inches set in 1933 by Edward Beeten, Mercersburg Academy.

Chester high's Jesse Williams had a record-breaking 23-foot 1½ inch try in the broad jump. It bettered the old mark of 22 feet 10½ inches set in 1937 by Kirk Hershey, Penn Charter.

Williams' schoolmate, Ernest Towns, hurled the discus 159 feet ½ inch to wipe out the 152 feet ¼ inch performance of Jack Hayward, Lower Merion, in 1944.

The closest anyone came to a record showing in the track events was Arthur Pollard, Coatesville, who did the 220-yard-run in 0:21.7 to match the standing mark.

10 CHAMPS AT FIELD MEET

Harrisburg, June 6 (AP)—Ten defending champions and a host of promising newcomers will attempt to rewrite the record books here Saturday at the annual Middle Atlantic AAU track and field meet.

Earl Flickinger, meet director, released a list of 182 entries for the competition to select the area's representatives in the National AAU championships two weeks later at Compton, Calif.

Flickinger predicted record-breaking performances in the discus (168 ft., 11 in.); the javelin (213 ft., ¾ in.); the mile (4:15.5); and high jump (6 ft., 5½ in.).

The large field will include three of last year's top performers—Jim Gehrdes, who swept both hurdles events; Vic Frank, who set new meet marks in the shot put and discus, and Richard Lyster, winner in the broad jump, and the hop-step-jump.

Lyster also was in a three-way tie for first place in the high jump.

Other defending champions returning include Bill Lockhart in the 440-yard run, James Kieser in the two-mile walk, Andy Kirk in the pole vault, Horace Ashenfelter in the three-mile, Richard Hart in the mile; Fred Gunther in the hammer; and Ted Roderer in the javelin.

Top competition of the day should come in the high jump, where three former ICAA champs will meet. Lyster will vie with Vic Fritts and James Herb, both of Penn State, for high jump honors.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Exercises at National Cemetery:

Gettysburg paused in its work-a-day life Monday to pay the full measure of patriotic tribute to her soldier dead.

For Gettysburg the observance was the fifty-eighth since May 30 was designated as the one day on which the heroic dead of all wars should be honored.

The parade was one of the largest Memorial Day processions in recent years. Music was furnished by the Citizens band of this place, and the Paradise Protectorate band, of Abbotstown.

At the rostrum in the cemetery Judge Donald P. McPherson presided. The Rev. Dr. Oyer, Sunbury, was the orator for the occasion. A pleasing feature was the readings of Miss Rosalie Diehl, of Mechanicsburg. Her rendition of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address was particularly effective.

The invocation and benediction was given respectively by the Rev. L. B. Hafer and the Rev. Dr. W. D. E. Scott. . . .

74 High School Seniors Get Diplomas: Qualifications for success in life were given by Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson as "having a purpose, adoption of a courageous attitude and hard work." Wednesday evening in the new $100,000 high school building.

Banked tier on tier against a red background 74 seniors, the largest graduating class in the history of the school, presented a pretty picture when the curtain was lifted.

A sesquicentennial motive was carried out in the salutatory address of Miss Elizabeth Woods and in the valedictory address of Miss Helen Stallsmith.

I. L. Taylor, treasurer of the board of education, presented the diplomas and also gave Walter D. Reynolds, retiring supervising principal, a watch and chain, the gift of teachers, janitors and triumphant officer.

The Rev. N. L. Horn gave the invocation and benediction. The honor roll was announced as follows:

Miss Helen Stallsmith, Miss Elizabeth Woods, Miss Miriam Hartzell, David Lehigh, Carl Slaybaugh, Miss Eva Raffensperger, Robert Fidler, John Mumper, president of the class, Miss Gladys Alvine, Miss Kathleen Thomas, Miss Luella Snider and Miss Marion Fischer.

Prince Is Given Dr. Wentz's Book: Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus and Crown Princess Louise of Sweden were presented with a specially bound volume of "The Lutheran Church in American History," written by Dr. Abbel Ross Wentz, member of the faculty of the Lutheran Theological seminary, in New York on Sunday.

Pretty Wedding Is Solemnized: A pretty, June wedding was solemnized Saturday evening at 6 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Durborow, Cumberland township, when their daughter, Miss Mary Catherine Durborow, became the bride of George Denmore Laird, of Trenton, N. J.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. L. K. Young on the front porch of the Durborow home.

Coutinians Married at Westminster: Robert L. Crouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Crouse, near Yoe's store, and Miss Esther Rohrbaugh, daughter of Mrs. Anna C. Rohrbaugh, Littlestown, were married at Westminster Thursday morning. The ceremony was performed in the parsonage of St. Paul's Reformed church. The pastor, the Rev. J. N. Garner, performed the ceremony. Mr. Crouse is employed at the H. G. Myers garage, Littlestown.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

SET YOUR STANDARD HIGH

There is a thought that has stayed with me ever since boyhood. Here it is: It is far better to aim high and work with all your might to attain something you want, even though you fail to get it, than to aim at nothing and get something you don't want.

I have known of the high purposes of people who failed in them, but who so inspired others that their lives were great successes. How many a hero's death has inspired many, many others who might otherwise have lived a proselous and uneventful life. One of my favorite books, as well as one of them today, is that one by Thomas Carlyle, "Heroes and Hero Worship." In a sense we are all hero worshipers. Even the heroes are!

By studying the lives of the successful we set standards for ourselves, and if we keep trying to reach those standards, and then try to raise them when once reached, how can we help but keep our eyes on things ahead and not on things of the past? How important it is that these standards we set for ourselves are reachable even though we may have to make many a dead heat to attain any one of them.

In an athletic test you get better by being in competition with those who are better than you are. By keeping this up, you will awake some fine morning to realize that you are better than they are! Have high standards. Keep warming them. Feed them. Never allow a setback to discourage you. Chin up. Stiff upper lip. Eyes ahead. Keep trying to pass yourself! Did it ever occur to you that your best friend and competitor is yourself? Make it a hot contest.

Once a high standard is established, all efforts fall in line with that decision and you keep spreading out unconsciously. You touch areas—and sometimes countries—that you never dreamed of ever influencing even in the smallest style. It isn't what we get in life that counts anywhere near as much as what we try to get! To have nobly and courageously striven is something for the gods to think about.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Humility In Nature."

HASTY JUDGMENT

I've felt full many a burdock grow
Believing it a flower to be,
And I have killed with rake and hoe
A plant that seemed a weed to me.

So similar at first appear
The sprouts of evil things and good.

Until the difference was clear
I have not waited as I should.

Too soon my judgment I've employed
Deciding what I couldn't know
What I'd be proud of, I've destroyed
And let what shames a garden grow.

Cope, former principal of the schools of Gettysburg, a diamond ring, at their twenty-fourth annual banquet Tuesday evening in the Eagle hotel. With the diamond, name cards of all alumni who gave contributions, all attached to a red ribbon several yards long, and a resolution expressing appreciation of her work in the schools and making her an honorary member and president emeritus of the association were given to Miss Cope, who has resigned as teacher in the high school.

One hundred and eighty-four alumni attended the banquet, the largest of its kind in the history of the association. After a four-course dinner President Charles C. Culp called the meeting to order.

Academy Seniors Banquet: Gettysburg academy closed its ninety-ninth year with a commencement dinner Tuesday evening attended by the 43 members of the graduating class, faculty and friends of the preparatory institution. The class is the largest ever graduated from the school. Dr. Charles H. Huber, headmaster, was the toastmaster and toasts were responded to by Donald Gardner, president of the senior class, Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson and Dr. A. R. Wentz.

TEACHER'S PAY INCREASE NEAR VOTE IN HOUSE

Harrisburg, June 6 (AP)—The $46,000 teacher salary increase bill neared a House vote today.

Both Republicans and Democrats freely predicted its passage. The measure calls for a flat $400 cost-of-living pay raise for most of Pennsylvania's nearly 60,000 school teachers starting next September.

It also would hike minimum and maximum salary levels by jumps of $200 a year, starting in 1952. The minimum salary of a college-certified teacher would be $2,400 a year.

Broad Implications
The teacher salary bill carries with it implications. It calls for $26,000,000 more than the $20,000,000 recommended by Gov. Fine in his $120,000,000 budget for the next two years.

Eleven Republican senators have held up Senate action on the House-passed administration proposal for a one-half of one per cent personal income tax. The levy is designed to raise $119,000,000 in the next two years.

Until the Senate does something to resolve the tax picture, the ultimate fate of the teacher salary bill continues in doubt.

But the House is proceeding with its fiscal business as if there was nothing amiss on the administration's tax program across the capitol.

Tax Muddle Hangs On
In less than two hours last night, a $625,115,405 general appropriations bill was introduced, received committee approval and given initial floor action in the House.

Although in the past years the big money-spending bill signaled the approach of adjournment, it appears to be a different story in 1951. Chairman Leroy Chapman (R-Warren) of the Senate Finance committee said only stop-gap appropriations will clear his committee. Appropriations for a full two-year span will be held indefinitely, he said, until the muddled tax picture clears.

The general appropriation bill calls for $4,716,185 in expenditures above Fine's budget estimates. Some decreases are made but they are more than offset by increases.

Another sidelight of the income tax picture was a House action in returning to committee a bill that would have exempted non-residents from local wage taxes.

The measure, backed by lawmakers who opposed the statewide income levy, is apparently picked for the remainder of the session.

The vote was 143-48 to recommit the measure which the city of Philadelphia estimated would cost it up to $14,000,000 a year. Some 200 other communities and school districts imposed a wage tax.

Two senators, who reported over the week-end as wavering in opposition to the statewide income tax bill, insisted in separate statements that they were against it. They were Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe (R-Monroe) and George N. Wade (R-Cumberland). The lawmakers turned in against the levy when it was first rejected by the Republican Senate caucus nearly a month ago.

From the Democrats came an attack on Fine's budget secretary, Dr. Edward B. Logan, who was termed a "figure-juggler."

"If the budget office was doing the job it should do, we wouldn't wind up making deficiency appropriations every two years," Sen. Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton) told the

MILLING FIRM IS BEING SUED

Russell M. Shoemaker, of St. Thomas R. 1, and his mother, Mrs. Helen M. Shoemaker, of Mercersburg R. 1, have filed a trespass suit in the Franklin county courts, naming the Keystone Milling company, of Littlestown, Adams county, defendant.

Shoemaker seeks damages totaling $422.95 and his mother asks damages in the amount of $500.

The suit is the outgrowth of a two-vehicle collision on the "camel-back" bridge near Williamson on November 17, 1950. Involved in the collision was a car owned by Shoemaker and operated by his father, Wayne C. Shoemaker, and a truck owned by the Adams county mill and operated by Charles B. Good, of Littlestown.

The $422.95 damages sought by Shoemaker are for reimbursement of expenses incurred in repairing his car. The $500 damages asked by his mother, a passenger in the car at the time of the accident, are for cuts and bruises she received.

375,000 Students To Take Aptitude Tests

Princeton, N. J., June 6 (AP)—An estimated 375,000 college students all over the nation have applied to take selective service aptitude tests.

The figure was announced on Monday by the Education Testing Service, now busily correcting exams taken May 26, the first of three scheduled test days. A spokesman at the testing service, which is administering the exams, said 121,911 students have signed up for the next test June 16. The third test will be given June 30.

The exams are to help selective service officials determine whether a student should go for his diploma or be subject to the draft.

The Formosa Story

This is the first of two articles on the island of Formosa, its position in world affairs, and how its military future may help oust the commies from the Chinese mainland.

(An island one-third the size of Kentucky is a big question mark in the debate over American policy in Asia. That island is Formosa and its leading citizen is Chiang Kai-shek, one of the world's most controversial figures. His enemies say he leads a lost cause; his advocates argue he's a good bet to drive communism from China—and to save American lives in Korea.)

(To size up the situation as it exists today, the AP called upon three veteran correspondents for a thorough inquiry on Formosa itself. Today Frank H. King and Spencer Moosa give a picture of Formosa and how it got the way it is. In a concluding article King and Fred Hampson will deal with the military aspects—what Chiang can and cannot do.)

(King is an AP general executive; Hampson and Moosa head the AP bureaus at Hong Kong and Taipei.)

By FRANK H. KING and SPENCER MOOSA

Taipei, Formosa, June 6 (AP)—Formosa—it is just a catchbasin for American millions, or does it hold a key to the defeat of communism in Asia?

Here on this beautiful island of cloud-topped mountains and lush productive valleys waits a fighting army of hundreds of thousands of men under Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. They give the impression they are determined one day to return across the China sea to their mainland home to give battle to the Communists.

Whatever the answer to the riddle of Formosa, the lean generalissimo has refused to be written off in the war against world communism. In December, 1949, when Chiang fled to Formosa for his life, the future of Nationalist China seemed hopeless. But today few will dispute the possibility of a Nationalist comeback.

War Helped Chiang

What brought about this change in the fortunes of Chiang? A Nationalist official put it this way: "Don't quote me, but Stalin and Mao Tse-tung (the Chinese Communist leader) have been our best allies."

The Korean war, President Truman's assignment of the U. S. 7th Fleet to neutralize Formosa, the Chinese Red intervention in Korea, and other international news events have led to the upturn in Nationalist prospects. Chiang's Formosan stronghold now seems on firmer footing than it ever has been.

The U. S.-financed Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA) is spending $56,000,000 in Formosa in the current year. More is to go into military aid. But, monumental problems, both military and economic, still are ahead for the "gissimo."

When the Nationalist Chinese government took over Formosa in 1945, ending 50 years of Japanese rule, it began at once to make enemies. It sent as its first governor Gen. Chen Yi, a notoriously bad administrator, and with him there tagged along a host of adventurers and carpetbaggers.

Revolt Flares In 1947

Discontent among the Formosans flared into revolt into revolt in February, 1947. It was suppressed, but thousands were killed and wounded. Resentment burned in the Formosan breast until last year, when Chen Yi, thrown out of the governorship and accused of trying to deal with the Reds, was executed. The Formosans celebrated the execution with fireworks.

Things began to turn for the better, then, although the threat of invasion remained. Chiang took over the presidency and appointed his close friend, Chen Cheng, as premier. Chen Cheng began a land reform program under which tenant farmers' rent was 37.5 per cent of the crop instead of the previous 50 per cent.

Realize Previous Faults

Now there is talk of a Nationalist comeback with a big "if"—if it is conducted by a tight, honest, efficient program of freeing a small part of the Chinese mainland from the Communists and then, by the example of good government and freedom, spreading it through China.

The Nationalists, from Chiang down, concede inefficiency and corruption were among factors which caused their downfall on the mainland. They realize that today they face a test: New American aid will be coming in. Will it be used honestly and efficiently?

This is the Nationalist answer: They hope to make Formosa a model province—a model for the mainland if it is recovered, as the Nationalists are sure it will be. The cabinet has a planning board which spends its time on blueprints for future Nationalist rule on the mainland.

One-Party Regime

The few Americans who have been here two years say Formosa still has a one-party (Chiang) regime, however, and more debate, discussions and political differences of opinion will be necessary. They say the recent municipal elections gave encouraging signs of development of this phase of democracy.

The talented and ebullient Dr. Wu, under whose governorship much progress has been made, says democratic government has been introduced and will be maintained. The Nationalist soldiers here do not vote, nor do they have domicile certificates, and emphasis is placed on the civilian character of the provincial government of the island.

"The Chinese have expected too much from democracy," Wu said. "They see Utopia, the millennium, panacea. I say merely that with all its virtues and weaknesses, it is the best government so far devised by man."

Improve Education

While under the Japanese higher education for Formosans was discouraged, the Nationalist regime says the number of high school students has doubled and the number of college enrollments was greatly increased.

But this "beautiful island" of the ancient Portuguese seafarers, a natural paradise which has become a political and military hotspot of the world, has inherited mighty problems.

About 7,500,000 persons are crowded on the island, an area the size of Massachusetts and Connecticut combined. A million are mainlanders who came when the Communists overran China. Chiang's armed forces number 500,000, more or less. At the rate new babies are arriving the island's population will double in 30 years.

Flowers, Fruit, Food

Formosa is a garden for anyone who has smelled Korea. The climate is like that of central and southern Florida, but rainier. Flowers are profuse. Fruit is plentiful and cheap. Food is varied. Water buffalo steak costs four cents a pound. Roast dog is a delicacy in some parts of the island.

Taipei, the capital built by the Japanese in their half-century of colonial rule, has 500,000 inhabitants and no beggars. It is quiet and orderly. It has an American colony of 400, mostly on Uncle Sam's payroll. They eat hamburgers with Chinese catsup at the "Friends of China Club" and hire house servants at $6 a week.

But the role of Formosa as a military base for Nationalist operations has imposed a heavy strain on the island's economy. Taxes are high; pleasures, few and expensive. The lot of the farmer, backbone of the economy, is hard.

(The second article will deal with Formosa as a military base.)

Tried To Clear Wife Of Stabbing Charge

Clearfield, Pa., June 6 (AP)—A former ambulance attendant testified he heard the husband of a woman convicted of her mate's slaying make a death-bed plea that she not be blamed.

Army Sergeant William Stewart testified at a pre-trial session on Monday that the husband of Mrs. Earl Plubell, 40, of Clearfield, repeated over-and-over in the ambulance before he died: "Don't blame my wife. It wasn't her fault."

The woman was convicted of involuntary manslaughter in the fatal stabbing. She was sentenced to from four to 12 years in the Pennsylvania Industrial Home for Women at Muncy.

A new trial next September has been ordered by the state Supreme Court, which ruled certain testimony regarding Plubell's statements in the ambulance should have been admitted as trial evidence.

A potted plant sale was held in conjunction with the regular monthly meeting of the Children's Sunday school teachers of Redeemer's Evangelical and Reformed church, on Monday evening in the social hall of the church. Mrs. Melvin Shanbrook, vice president, presided at the meeting, which opened with singing by the group, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Samuel H. Higinbotham. The scripture was read by Mrs. Helen Jacobs, followed with prayer offered by the pastor, the Rev. Frank E. Reynolds.

The program included two piano solos, "Garden of the Stars" and "Aviators on Parade," played by Miss Grizelda Hahn, and a reading pertaining to Play Day was given by Mrs. Higinbotham. At the business session the teachers decided to move the Nursery class and the Mothers' class into the social hall to conduct the Sunday school periods. There is not enough space in the present Sunday school room to accommodate these two classes and the social room was recently equipped for such a change, which will be made Sunday, June 17. The secretary's report was given by Mrs. Helen Jacobs. The group decided to hold the annual promotion exercises for the Beginners, Primary and Junior departments on Sunday, July 1, instead of waiting until Rally Day, when the Intermediate department will have promotion. Mrs. Higinbotham, superintendent of the Junior department, will be the local delegate, among five other representatives of churches of the Mercersburg Synod, to attend a child teacher training course being offered at the Heidelberg college, Tiffin, O., during the week of June 24. The meeting was closed with the group repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison.

The guess package was contributed by Mrs. Jacobs and was received by Mrs. John E. Stambaugh. A social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the June hostess committee composed of Mrs. Jacobs and Mrs. Herbert C. Hilke-meier. The teachers will not meet during the months of July or August. The next meeting will be held Monday, September 10, at the church. The hostess committee for this meeting was not appointed.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Carroll Volland left by automobile this week for San Jose, Calif., where they will attend the annual conference of the Church of the Brethren. With them and also attending the conference are the Rev. Jesse Jenkins, York elder of the church, and Mrs. Helena Kruger, church worker from Annapolis. Also in the party is Mrs. Volland's sister, Miss Helen Wolfe, formerly of Chicago, who is leaving to make her home at Medford, Ore., where she will work in a new phase of her nursing profession. She had been spending some time at the Volland home this year.

LaRue Heimer, who suffered a brain concussion and other injuries in an auto accident in York the night of his graduation from the local high school May 27, and who has been confined to bed at home since his return from the hospital, is slowly improving although he will require medical care for an indefinite time.

Dr. and Mrs. Allen W. Kelly have returned from a recent motor trip to Virginia where Mrs. Kelly has relatives and where Dr. Kelly studied for his profession at the hospital in Richmond.

The Rev. J. Monroe Danner, elder in charge of the Upper Conecago congregation, Church of the Brethren, left this week with Mrs. Danner to fly to California for several weeks to attend the annual conference of his church at San Jose. Another local Brethren minister, the Rev. Bruce Anderson, is making the trip by train. Mrs. Anderson's health will not permit her to make the long trip at this time.

Raymond L. Hoffman, Sr., who has been in ill health since suffering a severe heart attack in February which threatened his life for a time and later deprived him of the use of his left arm, is much improved and able to be about. He has recovered limited use of his arm and expects to regain full motion before too long.

Mrs. George H. Criswell, who has been residing with her daughters in the Hanover area, has been visiting her cousins, Mrs. Curtis W. Deatrick and Miss Ruth A. Deatrick, R. 2.

One of East Berlin's "town institutions" passed away last week when "Rover," the 13-year-old mixed Shepherd dog which Mr. and Mrs. W. Carroll Volland have owned since it was a puppy, became violently ill and was destroyed. "Rover," although owned by the Vollands who brought him to town when they moved from a R. 1 farm some years ago, would never stay at home for long, because he wanted to be with all the children of that section, following them to school and watching them play. Everyone played with him, petted him and saved delicacies for him, and a local meat marketman gave him the best testimonial of all when he said, "Rover was a regular customer; came every day, but never in the time we've been here, did he steal a piece of meat. With meat all around him here, he always waited for us to give it to him."

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Krenzer and daughter, Miss Patsy Krenzer, Hanover, were week-end visitors at the home of her sister, Mrs. Robert S. Lau, and family, Mrs. Krenzer was formerly Miss Pauline Grove, this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorin E. Strickler are residing with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Strickler, Dillsburg, having just returned from a week's wedding trip to Niagara Falls, N. Y. Mrs. Strickler was formerly Miss Dorothy Mae Hamm, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hamm, also of Dillsburg, who are frequent visitors here to Mrs. Hamm's mother, Mrs. Robert E. Phillips.

A large number of children between the ages of three and 14 from town and surrounding communities, representing all Protestant faiths of this section, reported at the local high school building Monday morning for the ninth annual sessions of the Daily Vacation Bible school operated by a committee of local churches and teaching Bible stories and songs, arts and crafts and religious lessons.

The school will be operated each schoolday morning between 9 and 11:15 for this week and next, concluding Friday, June 15. On the last evening, certificates will be awarded at a special program and exhibition of the Bible school work to which parents and neighbors are invited. The day before, there will be a picnic on the school campus. Although pupils are asked to bring a basket lunch, the DVBS authorities will provide a beverage and a treat for each child. They are also providing, each day, a light lunch at midmorning for the children of the ages of three, four and five years. Special care for the three-year-olds is being furnished at a new "nursery session" instituted this year. Children who have not yet attended may do so, but attendance is asked to be regular once a youngster has enrolled, although anyone enrolled may bring a visiting child.

TASKS OF JUNE ARE MANY

1. Plant dahlia tubers today. Of course, the soil should have been carefully made ready a week or so ago.

2. Set out vigorously rooted sweet potato plants.

3. Enjoy Sunday dinner outdoors, even in the backyard.

4. If no crabgrass is present, give the lawn a feeding of 6-8-6 fertilizer and water it gently into the soil at once.

5. Corn for silage may be planted this week.

6. It is not too late to plant garden varieties of soybeans.

7. Start active war on house flies; enlist the cooperation of neighbors to drive the dangerous enemy into extinction.

8. Pull and burn iris plants showing evidences of borer infestation.

9. Allow daffodils, hyacinths and other so-called Dutch bulb plants to mature their tops naturally before cutting them off.

10. Drive carefully on crowded highways these summer Sunday afternoons. Always be ready to stop between you and danger.

11. Winter varieties of squash, such as the Hubbard, Acorn and many others should be planted this week.

12. Tomatoes trained to individual stakes and kept pruned to a single vine are less likely to be attacked by late blight.

13. Sow rutabagas within the next three or four days. They require more time to reach maturity than turnips.

14. All early flowering shrubs, such as lilacs, forsythias and others, should be pruned after they bloom, not in the spring.

The Shippensburg high school, gave an address at the recent celebration tendered at the Lincoln View Hotel in honor of his sister, Miss Beulah E. Wentz, who has just retired after teaching two full generations of children in the primary department of the borough school. Miss Wentz was also given a large bouquet of roses and a gift, a piece of luggage, in token of "faithful service." Her plans for the future are indefinite but she plans to rest and attend to home duties for the summer.

Local women are assisting with preparations for the strawberry festival to be given to the public for the benefit of Paradise Catholic church on the church grounds Saturday, June 16, from 4 p.m. through-out the evening.

CANCER-RIDDEN GIRL ENDS HIGH SCHOOL CAREER

Atlanta, June 6 (AP)—Out into the world last night went 185 beaming, hopeful high school graduates, leaving a lovely classmate, Betty Thompson, to face death.

And cancer-doomed, 18-year-old Betty wistfully watched them go. She held proudly the loving cup they voted her as the class' outstanding citizen.

The graduates went out dedicated for a brief, precious moment to peace and "one world."

There was ahead for Betty only uncertain hopes of a brief marriage to sailor Tom Amburn and then—perhaps this fall—death.

But Betty lived last night in the present, smiling gently at her classmates as they filed through an arch of swords onto the stage of the municipal auditorium.

2,000 At Exercises

The graduation exercises were held in the auditorium to accommodate about 2,000 friends and relatives of the Russell high school senior class.

Betty sat through half of the exercise on a sofa behind the grand piano on the stage. She listened soberly as honor student Martha Ann Hemperly declaimed on "the challenge to abundant living."

Then came time to announce class awards and to hand out diplomas. Betty's brother, David, lifted the pale, brown-eyed brunette from the sofa to her place with the rest of the class.

During the alma mater song, Betty rose and sang with the rest, holding carefully to a friend's arm and balancing easily on her one leg.

Betty already has lost one leg to the cancer which now has spread to her lungs.

Like any proud school girl she quickly unrolled her diploma and read the inscription aloud to herself.

Tom had promised to be on hand for her graduation, but was confined to the naval hospital at Norfolk with a severe case of nerves.

They had been planning marriage

Are Roaches Troublesome?

Like most other insect problems, that of roaches is by far easiest to solve before the pests become numerous. Every housewife should write the editor, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy of our simple roach control instructions. Several economical, easy-to-use remedies are recommended. Of course, questions on other household insect pests are invited.

Building Ideas For Home Owners Of This Community

Rooms Five
Bedrooms Three
Closets Seven
Cubage 24,800
Dimensions 33' x 30'

A large living room with fireplace, a breakfast nook, a kitchen and a lavatory are on the first floor while three good sized bedrooms are on the second floor of this compact home.

A 45-foot minimum width lot is required for the Whitewood which measures 33 by 30 feet, including the garage. The cubage is 24,800 cubic feet.

The garage, built as part of the house, the setback porch sheltering the front door and the long dormer are unusual features which help "sell" the house.

Stepping into the house you find yourself in a U-shaped hall. To the right is an open archway into the living room. The other arm of the hall opens into the far end of the living room, next to the fireplace.

Opposite the front door, at the foot of the stairs to the second floor, is a handy coat closet. A window opening on the porch and another in the breakfast nook, at the end of the hall, give ample light to the passageway.

A door from the garage, opening into this hall, provides easy access to the kitchen and lavatory, located between the breakfast nook and living room.

Sliding Door Suggested
A broom closet is conveniently placed just inside the kitchen door, immediately beyond the stove. The exit door is located in the side wall. Double windows in the back wall make the sink beneath and the adjoining U-shaped work counters well lighted. Over head cupboards provide ample storage room. The refrigerator is located at the end of the counter convenient to the breakfast nook.

A sliding door could easily be built in the wall between the breakfast nook and kitchen so that food and dishes could be passed through. The kitchen measures 10 feet by 9 feet 6 inches.

A door to the cellar and a built-in cupboard open into the hall near the living room.

A fireplace on the inside wall adds to the attractiveness of the 22 by 13-foot living room. The far end of this room could easily be converted into a dining room since the kitchen is only a few steps away.

Triple windows on the long outside wall, balancing the fireplace on the opposite wall, and double windows on the front and back walls give brightness to the room.

On the second floor are two huge bedrooms and another good-sized bedroom, connected by an L-shaped hall.

Each bedroom has a closet and there is a built-in linen closet in the hall, convenient to all the rooms. A window just to the right of the stairs provides ample light for the hall.

To the left of the stairs are the bathroom and the master bedroom, which measures approximately 16 by 12 feet. The joy provided by the dormer, and brightened by the window, would make an excellent spot for mother to do her handwork. The opposite wall and the unbroken inside wall are made to "accommodate" large pieces of furniture.

Smallest Bedroom
The smallest of the bedrooms, measuring 11 by 10 feet, is at the rear of the house at the other end of the hall. Cross ventilation is provided by the two windows and there is ample wall space for a bed and dresser or chests.

The linen closet is located in the hall just outside the door to the third bedroom. This room is 15 by 11 feet and well lighted by two windows. If there are youngsters in the family bunks could be built on the wall near the side window. Dressers or chests could be placed on the back inside wall.

Complete plans and specifications for the Whitewood and other houses in this series are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 18, The Gettysburg Times, and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a 3-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

COLORS RELATED

Each color in a room affects every other color that is there. When you place red next to a wall or an object that is painted with its complement, green, it will give greater beauty to the green. Orange next to blue will make the blue seem brighter.

NEW EQUIPMENT HELPS HEAT NEW DESIGN HOUSES

Such trends in modern architecture as houses with picture windows from floor to ceiling, the one-story ranch type house, and the basement-less house would have presented a heating problem a few years ago but today, thanks to innovations in equipment, are taken by the heating industry in its stride, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau reports.

New types of heating units which direct the heat to the lower or occupied portion of rooms, better control, and improvements in installation methods are among the new developments which enable the heating industry today to provide comfort in houses which, only a few years ago, would have been classed as "hard to heat," the bureau points out.

The problem of providing comfortable conditions in rooms with a large glass area has been solved partly by improved types of controls and partly by new developments in panel heating, baseboard heating equipment, radiators, and convectors. Separate Thermostat Used

A large glass area presents a comfort problem. When the sun is not shining on the glass, discomfort sometimes results as the occupants of the room may be exposed to both the effect of the glass surface and to the cool air which often descends from large glass areas to the floor.

When the sun is shining on the glass, the room is likely to be overheated as compared with other rooms, unless the room is individually zoned with its own controls.

When individually zoned, a separate thermostat regulates the heat input into the room so that, when the sun is shining on the glass, the heat input is reduced or, if necessary, eliminated. On the other hand, when the room is shaded, the amount of heat going into the room is increased.

OUR HOME LOOKS New Again!

"We just finished giving our house the Athey Style Treatment! We never realized before just how dingy and old-fashioned looking a house could get in a few short years! We found several places where the paint had peeled off... the wood was exposed. Right then, we knew it was mighty poor economy to buy a so-called 'cheap' paint. Our house is now fashionably spic and span... and protected by Athey's C.M.A. Paint.

"We were pleasantly surprised at the amount of surface this top quality paint covered...we didn't have to buy nearly so much as we'd planned on. Our colors are scientifically styled to be right for this year and the years to come. Now, our house is well protected...the property value is still high... and the place looks NEW again!"

CRISIS IN IRAN IS VERY GRAVE; CAN BE SETTLED

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Anglo-Iranian oil dispute remains a dangerous threat to international peace though it still is possible to say guardedly that it is susceptible of compromise.

This controversy revolves about the Teheran government's sensational nationalization of the huge petroleum concern, over the protests of Britain which owns the majority of stock. Britain long has operated this oil field and is dependent on the oil to maintain her vital Middle Eastern position. America also is concerned and, to a less degree, so are other western powers.

Naturally Britain is fearful that this Iranian oil may slip away from her, especially since the Iranians themselves are incapable of working the field. This raises the danger of neighboring Russia stepping in, since she long has had a yearning eye on this wealth of oil, as well as on a warm water port on the Persian gulf. The current position—on thumbnail is this:

Iranian Ultimatum

1. The Tehran government fixed a seven-day deadline (in effect an ultimatum) for the petroleum concern to start conversations on ways and means of turning the company over to the Iranian government.

2. Iran's aged premier, Mohammed Mossadegh, who frequently registers emotion with tears, declared that Iran will "fight to the end" to carry out the nationalization. And he wept as he said it.

3. Britain announced she was sending her tough 16th Parachute Brigade to the island of Cyprus, which lies in the Mediterranean within easy striking distance of Iran.

4. Secretary of State Acheson has appealed to Britain and Iran to sit down at a conference table and work out a peaceful settlement.

Reject All Proposals

5. Thus far Iran has rejected all proposals for settlement by arbitration.

This brings us up to the question of what Britain is justified in doing to maintain her position. Would she, for example, be warranted in sending military forces into Iran to protect these great oil interests?

The British do not question the right of any government to nationalize commercial concerns. In fact it would be odd for the London Socialist regime to argue otherwise, since it is in process of nationalizing British industries.

Britain Pushed Around

However, London does maintain that under the contract the Persian government in effect agreed not to exercise any such nationalization rights.

A widespread feeling in Britain seems to be summed up accurately by Anthony Eden, deputy leader of the great Conservative party, who declared that the country has been "pushed around a little too much of late." He declared that international obligations are being flouted in Iran.

PLAN TO EASE CENSORSHIP IN KOREA JUNE 15

Tokyo June 6 (AP)—Double censorship of war news from Korea will end June 15, the Far East command announced Tuesday.

Beginning then, all censorship will be handled by general headquarters censors from an office at Eighth Army headquarters in Korea. Eighth Army will give up its censorship powers.

Also effective June 15, war correspondents in Korea will not be allowed to telephone stories to Tokyo as they have in the past.

The bulk of war stories will be moved by teletype from Eighth Army headquarters to Tokyo. But correspondents' stories "concerning the immediate tactical situation or releases covering unusual events" will be telephoned by the GHQ censorship office at 8th Army to news agencies or newspaper representatives in Tokyo.

Censors will do the phoning, one high officer said, to prevent leaks in censorable news.

A correspondent may ask that any specific story be telephoned rather than teletyped, a GHQ censor said.

Current Arrangement

This is the current censorship situation:

A war correspondent telephones his battle front stories to his representative at Eighth Army headquarters. The recipient submits the story to Eighth Army censors who make any deletions they deem necessary, then return the story. The story then is telephoned or teletyped to Tokyo.

There the story is submitted to general headquarters censors who may make more deletions.

Then the story is ready to be sent to the United States and other countries.

War stories originating in Japan pass through GHQ censorship only. This arrangement will be continued.

of the store, which uses the new "bay section" counter and stools. Booths, which formerly occupied one side of the store, have been removed. The new bay has 25 stools.

Most of the woodwork and show cases are blonde maple, and walls are pastel shades of light blue gray and dusty rose. A toiletries section has been installed where the old soda fountain was formerly located.

The soda and luncheonette department has a number of new facilities for better preparation and serving of food, including a new french fryer, new grill and new soup kitchen. New window lighting will be installed, with the old incandescent lights removed and replaced by "slim-lined" lights.

Another of the new features of the store is a self-service ice cream and ice cream novelties freezer, adjacent to the front entrance.

Included among the numerous departments and lines carried by the store are the following: prescription department, which has been repainted; luncheonette and soda fountain; leading lines of toilet goods for both men and women; biologicals, hospital supplies, patent medicines, photographic supplies, infant supplies, tobaccos, candy, featuring Whitman's and bulk lines, ice cream, sundries, costume jewelry, stationery, beauty aids, greeting cards, souvenirs and toys.

The Gettysburg store, now No. 29 of the Rea and Derick chain, was formally opened November 13, 1936. The company will open its 30th store in Harrisburg next September.

Founded In 1920

Founded by Scott C. Rea, president, and George C. Derick, vice president, the firm opened its first store in Sunbury July 1, 1920. Today the chain consists of 29 stores located throughout east-central Pennsylvania, with warehouses centrally located in Northumberland, Pa.

Rea and Derick was incorporated in 1928. Other officers in addition to Mr. Rea and Mr. Derick include Dr. George A. Deitrick, treasurer; Lewis R. Wolf, secretary; C. M. Derick, member of the board of directors and store supervisor.

The president and vice president are both natives of Newville, where

SPANIARD ASKS MILITARY PACT WITH YANKEES

Detroit, June 6 (AP)—The Spanish ambassador to the United States asked in a speech here Tuesday for a military alliance and economic aid from the United States. He made overtures toward cooperation with Atlantic Pact forces against communism.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the Detroit Club, a businessmen's organization, Jose F. de Lequerica said:

"Spain, if necessary, is prepared to resist the Communist aggressor and... is willing to cooperate in the common task side by side with the peoples who are ready to build a military organization to resist aggression."

Scorn U. S. Soldiers
The Franco government representative said Spain "will not ask for American soldiers." He appeared to chide the rest of Western Europe for wanting American troops to aid in its defense.

"Some may be surprised," De Lequerica said, "to see a continent like the European, with nearly 300,000,000 inhabitants outside the iron curtain, asking for American troops. But we must let this pass. There may be psychological reasons..."

This appeared aimed at the Western European members of the Atlantic Pact, under which the United States is contributing six divisions to an international anti-Communist army commanded by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The Spanish ambassador had cool words, also, for "certain governments" which "have said that they view Spain's cooperation with reserve." Spain, he said "is not going to look for treaties with them so long as such attitudes are held."

Slim Victory Over Communists In Italy

Palermo, Sicily, June 5 (AP)—Premier Alcide De Gasperi's Christian Democrat party scored a slim 21-376-vote margin—of 2,133,378 votes cast—over Communist-led forces in Sunday's bitterly fought regional assembly elections, it was announced Tuesday.

Complete but unofficial returns from the Interior Ministry's election bureau gave the premier's party 666,128 votes to 644,752 for the Communist-led People's bloc.

The seriousness of the Christian Democrats' brush with defeat was aggravated by the unexpectedly heavy vote polled by the Neo-Fascist Italian Social movement (MSI). The MSI (known here as "Missini") got

Blaze Burns Out Big Shopping Area

Passaic, N. J., June 6 (AP)—The heart of Passaic's shopping area was ravaged by a $1,000,000 fire that raged unchecked for five hours on Monday.

Left gutted or badly damaged were a huge electrical appliance store, two textile factories, a dress shop, delicatessen, luncheonette and men's clothing store.

Thick, acrid smoke that blanketed this city of 60,000 damaged dozens of other shops.

Fire Lt. Louis Greenberg, who set the damage figure, said there was a good chance it would be revised upwards.

The blaze started in the basement of the two-story Arrow Electric company, one of the state's largest, mushroomed through the building's air conditioning system and was out 273,504 votes, or 12.8 per cent of the total. The premier's party percentage was 31.2, while that of the Communists was 30.2, the ministry reported.

In the 90-member regional assembly, the ministry said, the Christian Democrats and Communists each will get 30 seats. The MSI will hold 11.

Man Suffocates In Small Chimney

Perth Amboy, N. J., June 6 (AP)—46-year-old pipefitter stumbled into a narrow brick chimney 25 stories above the ground on Monday and suffocated despite a two-hour rescue attempt.

The victim, William Fletcher, of Bayonne, N. J., was working atop a huge catalytic cracker unit at the California Refining company when the accident happened.

He tripped and fell off a scaffold into the narrow opening and became wedged about 20 feet from the top. The chimney, normally full of hot gases from the cracker unit, was in the cooling-off stage at the time.

Volunteers were lowered into the pipe three times without success. On the fourth try, workman Ralph Mossman managed to lasso a rope around Fletcher's body and pull him out.

The cracker unit is used to separate petroleum into its various units.
